TowerJazz is the premier sponsor of the GSA event, and as the only pure-play foundry in Israel, maintains a strong local presence. With its headquarters located in Migdal Haemek, Israel, TowerJazz's close proximity to Europe allows the company to facilitate strong customer support and onsite technical assistance where needed. Also, with manufacturing facilities on three continents; two fabs in Israel, one in the US and one in Japan, TowerJazz offers multi-sourcing for companies worldwide. As the market leader in specialty foundry process technologies, TowerJazz provides a broad range of process and IP offerings including: power management, CMOS image sensors, RF and high performance analog technologies as well as process transfer optimization services.

"I am excited to deliver the opening speech for the GSA Israel Executive Forum to share the message that Israel's technological capabilities and innovation are increasingly strong and will continue to fuel growth and competition for next-generation products not only in this region, but worldwide," said Russell Ellwanger, TowerJazz Chief Executive Officer. "I also look forward to sharing our company philosophy and roadmap for offering multi-sourcing manufacturing to leading companies such as those attending this conference."
